Virtual Reality Cybercrime Awareness Training

Storyboard: Grandpa Joe's First Cyber Lesson (A VR Journey)

Genre: Educational narrative with realism and warmth

Tone: Reassuring, slightly humorous, relatable

Perspective: First-person (Grandpa Joe)

Start Now

Scene 1: Entering the VR World

Visuals: Grandpa Joe puts on a VR headset. The virtual room appears. A friendly digital guide (younger version of Joe) appears.

Audio: "Welcome, Joe! Ready to learn about cyber safety?"

Action: Joe responds, "Sure. Hit me with it."

Scene #:

Notes:

1

Scene 2: The Suspicious Email

Visuals: Two emails appear side by side. One is a real AirAnA booking confirmation.

Audio:

Joe: "Oh nice! Two AirAnA messages—did I book twice?"

Feedback

- Zooms in on suspicious sender address.
- Highlights slight spelling mistake in "Airbnb."
- Shows mismatched link URL when hovering.

Scene #:

Notes:

2

Scene 3: The Fake Phone Call

Visuals: Incoming call shows fake bank contact.

Audio: Caller: "This is your bank. We need your credit card number AirAnA"
Guide: "Would your real bank ask that?"

Interaction: Joe presses NO.

Feedback: "Good job. Always call back using the bank's official number."

Scene #:

Notes:

3

Scene 4: Password Trouble

Visuals: Password input field shows: password123.

Audio: Guide nearly chokes laughing: "Joe, that's the first thing hackers try!"

Action: Joe replaces with Sunshine1956!

Guide nods: "Now that's a strong password."

Scene #:

Notes:

4

Scene 6: Oversharing on Social Media

Visuals: Chat message from "New Friend": "Hey Joe, what's your home address? I'd love to send you a little gift!"

Joe: "Hmm... I'm not sure I should be sharing that online."

Interaction: Joe clicks NO.

Guide: "Some people online aren't who they say they are."

Scene #:

Notes:

5

Scene 7: The Online Scam

Visuals: Clickbait ad with countdown timer.

Audio: Joe: "Too good to be true."

Interaction: Joe says "No thanks."

Guide gives a virtual high-five.
